

STANDARD INFORMATION FORM FOR UNILATERAL TERMINATION OF THE CONTRACT

The right to unilateral termination of the contract

The consumer has the right to unilateral termination only if the goods are packed and unopened. By opening the originally packaged goods the customer loses the right to unilateral termination of the contract and is considered that customer accepts the delivered goods in full, and Azaria Ltd. is not obliged to replace the goods.

The consumer can, without giving a reason, terminate the contract within 3 days of the conclusion of the contract or upon its receipt.

The right to unilateral termination of the contract shall start from the date of delivery, i.e. the date of the personal picking of the shipment.

If the consumer has not received this form, the deadline for unilateral termination begins to run from the delivery of the form and expires after 5 days.

If the consumer has not received all the information requested, the deadline for unilateral termination shall begin from the moment when the consumer receives that information, and expires after 5 days.

In order to exercise the right to unilateral termination, the consumer must submit a written notice to the dealer stating the termination of contract.

The notice must be written in a durable medium and contain information stated below and can be delivered as a letter sent by mail or email.

If the consumer exercises the right to unilateral termination, he has to return delivered or personally taken goods at Azaria Ltd address and to cover the costs.
